Let's Congratulate Rep. Powell

Under other circumstances, it would be easier to note that the federal government's long campaign to pin a tax evasion charge on U.S. Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., politician-pastor of the Abyssinian Baptist Church in New York, had been aban-

This is a case with whiskers on it. The tax obligations in question go back as far as 1951. They have been in and out of pigeonholes so often they are tattered and torn. Rep. Powell, himself, has been in and out of pigeonholes, too.

Although he is listed as a Democrat and is a top committee chairman by grace of his present loyalty to the Democratic party, he switched to Dwight Eisenhower in 1956 and was punished for this defection by the Democratic partonage dispensers.

When John F. Kennedy ran for the presidency, Rep. Powell had returned to the Democratic party. Those who have studied this remarkable man at length (he came to the House of Representatives in 1944 and has been there ever since) say he finally has found himself, now that he is chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee. He is asserting himself as a central figure in the Kennedy wing of the Democratic party.

There were those who had resented the way he was put under a cloud over his income tax returns. Some claimed to see a connection between the way the cloud grew blacker and lighter according to the ebb and flow of partisan politics in Washington. Rep. Powell, himself, sometimes thought he detected evidence that he was not being viewed in as detached a way as other citizens who were not spokesmen for a politically powerful minority in a key city in a key state.

All that is immaterial now. The government has dropped its case after eight years of investigation and prosecution; it says it can't prove a thing. Coming as it did at income tax deadline, the news has a special impact on the rest of us. It makes us wonder where we would have ended up after eight years.

General Motors Made A Killing

Nothing is more difficult than trying to make practical judgment coincide with legal judgment in antitrust situations. The indictment of General Motors Corp. on a single charge of criminally monopolizing production and sale of diesel locomotive and suppressing competition in the locomotive industry will be a fresh challenge to all who wish the law would follow reality instead of the illusion of legalists.

General Motors, understandly anxious to keep itself from being smeared with an allegation of crime that it doesn't think it committed, was prompt in firing back at the Department of Justice after its announcement that it had filed a criminal indictment after investigation by its antitrust division.

It declared that its leadership in diesel locomotive production was earned by merit, beginning at a time when potential competitors were trying so hard to protect their investment in steam locomotive production that they did not dare to complete aggress-

The railroads abandoned steam and switched to diesel power, most of it furnished by fits, not because they were forced to give the diesel locomotive business to General

Knowing that some day the antitrust lawyers working for the government would seek to use their success to show restraint of competition, General Motors began in 1956 to furnish certain records to the Department of Justice. As long ago as 1955, the corporation's spokesmen testified on the matter before a Senate subcommittee.

It would be foolish after the electrical conspiracy cases to wonder if government lawyers can prove in court that General Motors did something wrong - actually illegal. The point is that the only way the corporation could have been sure of staying out of court would have been to sidestep an opportunity to clean up in a business it got into aggressively at the right moment to make a

Needed: More Water By Frank Carey

WASHINGTON

President John F. Kennedy, an old PT boat commander and sometime yachtsman, wants to use the seas to meet a growing national problem.

The Kennedy administration has pledged itself to redouble the nation's efforts to achieve the long - sought major breakthrough in converting the ocean's salt waters to fresh.

Conversion is considered by many experts to be the only ultimate answer to the country's growing water shortages.

Since 1952, the government has had a formal program aimed at economically converting saline water.

OFFICIALS OF THE Interior Department's office of saline water say sensational break-throughs have yet to be achievedand that none are foreseen for at least the next few years under the program's present pace.

They add, though, that progress has been and is being made "despite a research and development budget which is just about the same as that earmarked for running the Washington Zoo." The office soon will put into operation at Freeport, Tex., the first of five big demonstration plants planned for various parts of the country. The plants are to produce the first bigleague operating data on the economic potential of several different conversion processes - while at the same time adding nearly three million gallons daily to the country's water supply These plants cost about $6,000,000 in all. Still newer and conceivably more promising ideas are cropping up in government and industrial laboratories These range from a new distillation process developed by the General Electric Co. to a concept for using radioactive wastes to

BUT ALL SUCH ideas need time, manpower and money, says the agency, whose entire staff totals only 25 persons.

It's in this setting that President Kennedy has promised new action and has urged Congress to double appropriations for saline water research and construction. The President has also asked for $23,000,000 for studies of the ocean on which he said our survival may depend.

For what else is it? Is human life improved because a small vehicle travels in the sky at about the same distance from the earth as New York is from Wilmington or Baltimore?

Was human life any further advanced because in 1957 the first Sputnik sped around the earth in

Today the United States continues to have 22 sputniks in orbit around the globe and the Russians have one. Has any human being felt any benefit from such stunts?

President Kennedy stated, in a nutshell, at his Wednesday press conference the simple truth about the Soviet's cruel disregard of human welfare as it concentrates on propaganda stunts. He said:

'A dictatorship enjoys advantages in this kind of competition over a short period by its ability

This is the real reason for the Soviet achievement in sending the first man into outer space. The United States could have done it even earlier if it had decided to take away from other necessary things the money to spend on space research.

As it is, the people of the Soviet Union are deprived of the benefits of better living. It is significant that one of the big rewards to the new "hero of the Soviet Union" is that he will be permitted to have a four-room apartment for himself, wife and two children, instead of the two rooms he has heretofore been allotted.

ship which is responsible for such deprivation and such disregard of what is truly human welfare now deserves the plaudits of the world for having sent a man high into space before any other nation could do it?

PRESIDENT KENNEDY put his finger on what ought really to be giving concern to the worldinventions that will help human beings to a better life. He rightly said at his press conference:

"I've said that I thought that if other scientific accomplishment.

'I do not regard the first man in space as a sign of the weakening of the free world. But I do regard the total mobilization of man and things for the service of the Communist bloc over the last years as a source of great danger to us. And I would say we're going to have to live with that danger and hazard through much of the rest of this century.' As the President of the United States really sees it, therefore, the sending of a man into space around the earth gets big headlines and is exploited by Nikita Khrushchev throughout the world as a vindication of communism but, after all, viewed in its true light, the episode only emphasizes what a dictatorship can do with the fruits of the labor of its enslaved citizens.

AMERICA invented the first airplane but not the first jet. America perfected the first atom bomb, too, but who can exult over that? Inventions that help humanity - like the Salk vaccine or the cure for yellow fever or the eventual cure for cancer - these are achievements that can mean much for mankind.

As, for advances in flying, the Soviets know that sending the U2's across Russia 12 miles above ground for nearly four years was indeed real progress in the field of reconnaissance and protection against attack.

A Super Lint-Maker

By Truman Twill

If this means I must be trucked away to a federal prison for having irregular and subversive thoughts, I will go quietly. But I am not impressed with the claim that a Russian fly-boy whizzed around the earth in some kind of a space ship. I do not want my cotton-picking government to spend an extra umpity mlilion dollars of taxpayers' funds to match this feat, buckitybuckity. And I do not want to have my ears bent by congressmen screaming their heads off because the Russkies got into space first and how come.

I am impressed with the size of Russian rockets that can lob more weight into space than U.S. rockets can put upstairs; I was impressed with that detail before there had been talk of shooting human beings into space.

Obviously, the Russian scientists took advantage of what they learned from German rocketeers about mashing up Britain with rockets lobbed over from the Continent. They were apt pupils - a lot apter than ours, though ours were supposed to have the best teacher. They had Von Braun himself, the head masher.

I am similarly impressed with the skill of Russian mathemeticians who are able to figure out with incredible precision the trajectories of the objects they have been firing into space. Their electronic brains must be on higher voltage than ours.

And not least, I am impressed with Russia's almost complete control of the loose ends that flop around and trip up public relations experts in other countries. Everything the Russian rocketeers do is a triumph, because no one ever hears about their failures. With the single exception of the London Daily Worker's muff of the big man-in-space story, the Russians never let it be known that they must get into their pants one leg at a time. The Daily Worker got its stories crossed and reported a space excursion that turned out badly, instead of waiting for the one that turned out well. Some hapless correspondent is learning his way around a salt mine to atone for that fumble.

But as for lobbing a human being into space and getting him back where he started from, I can't see it. It's a stunt.

It would make a fine idea for an amusement park concession. Disneyland could make something of it. Multi-millionaire playboys would go for it when they had exhausted all the other thrills

All this stuff is absorbing the knowledge and time of supersmart people and billions of dollars' worth of government revenue. It has become a preoccupation of the bureaucratic mind.

President's Programs

Public Interest In "Frontiers' Lagging

WASHINGTON President Kennedy has impressed the nation with his sense of action. But the people seem to be paying more attention to him as a person than to what he's saying as a president. The New York Times and the Wall Street Journal last week checked with members of Congress returning from Easter vacation and reported they had found back home 1. Kennedy is increasingly pop-

2. The people show little interest in his programs.

The result of No. 2 is an absence of pressure on Congress to do what the President wants. There are three ways to interpret 1. Kennedy, after his early grim and urgent warnings, has shoveled out his programs with far too little explanation to the people—say in a TV talk—to get broad public support. 2. Or, most Americans, except the unemployed, don't feel much urgency themselves because they are not hurting for money or comforts. Their inclination, without White House prodding, is to roll 3. Or, his programs, except for medical care for the aged, are not the kind that stir up enthusiasm or controversy. Kennedy's programs, except for medical care, are not even tinged with newness but are either routine, like his budget message, or extensions of programs long in existence, like raising minimum pay or extending unemployment pay. If most Americans are showing little interest in Kennedy's pro-complacency which has been a constant American condition for some time.

This country was shocked in 1957 when the Soviet Union fired its first Sputnik into orbit. Briefly, there was intensive soul-searching on why this country hadn't been

Far From Utopia

The Soviet economy, while focusing on its plan to surpass the United States, is still having trouble making its own ends meet.

Farmers, at one end, have not been producing the food-particularly the meat-that Soviet Premier Khrushchev demands of

City consumers, at the other end, pine for household goods, as well as for housing to put them

Production figures on farms and in factories almost invariably look good in percentages of things past but are seldom given quantitative

Mr. Khruschchev's 7-year plan, too, can enjoy the benefits of that now in its third year, is humming along better on paper than in practice.

The sepcialists trained to develop the vast hinterlands prefer the laborer's job in the city. The housewife who would buy the refrigerator she sees on display is told it can be delivered in seven years. The collective farm chief pads his reports and gets a tongue-lashing from his leader.

THE COMMUNIST party's economic journal. Economic Gazette, frequently pokes at these aberrations in the big plan.

In a typical editorial recently, this journal said Soviet citizens would appreciate more consumer research and less unplanned obselescence. Soviet production of consumer goods increases every year and this year the flow of refrigerators and washing machines, for example, will jump 11/2 times, the editorial stated proudly. Then it revealed, after reciting the plan, that refrigerators and washing machines were not produced up to plan last year, nor were they in January and February of this year. Sometimes, Economic Gazette said, trade unions are at fault. If electric irons or bicycles begin to pile up in a warehouse, the Journal reported, a trade union urges the State Plan Committee to cut back production. When supplies are exhausted, there is a delay in resuming production. "The result is the population suffers," it said. "It's high time for trade ministers of the Soviet Republic and their scientific institutions to elaborate scientific methods of determining clients' demands." the party journal declared. Not only should goods be available in sufficient quantity, it added, but in fine quality, Plastics are used in the Soviet Union primarily to make "clumsy things," it said for example. Consumers have a right to complain of poor quality clothes from a particular Moscow factory, the journal reported, while the wristwatches over in Penza are also unsatisfactory.

AN ECONOMICS lesson was offered: "It's necessary to understand that production of poor quality goods with a short period of service artificially makes an increased demand, resulting in a deficit of some mass consumer goods."

Storm Slaps U.S. Midwest

A crippling spring snowstorm, sweeping out of the northern Plains with all the fury of a midwinter blockbuster, staggered the Midwest today.

The heavy wet snow, whipped by strong winds, smothered spring with a blanket of white from the Dakotas across the north central region.

The storm, which started in some areas Saturday night, increased in intensity Sunday. As the storm moved eastward, there was some letup in snowfall, but strong winds continued, causing much drifting.

Fresh snow measured up to more than a foot and a half in northern Minnesota. Drifts piled up to 10 feet in some areas. Blowing snow cut visibility sharply.

At least 18 deaths were attribut ed to the stormy weather, mostly in traffic accidents on icy and snow-covered highways, with two of the deaths caused by heavy rains east of the snow belt.

The damaging storm, a climatic shocker for the fifth week in spring, had widespread effects. Record snowfalls for the date were reported in many areas. Freezing weather added to the discomfort. Wind gusts were clocked up to 50 m.p.h.

Thousands of cars and motorists were stranded. Major and arterial roads were blocked. Snowplow crews were frustrated by the blowing snow.

Schools in many areas were closed, scores of them in Minnesota and Illinois. Travel by bus, plane and train slowed. Motorists in many cities were urged not to drive unless necessary.

Boston: The more I see of people like "Realist" the more I like my dog.

Lansford, Pa.: So dogs are dumb animals are they? How about the St. Bernards who patrol the mountain passes? And the German Shepherds who serve as eves for the blind? And the remarkable hunting dogs? We frequently tread newspaper accounts of how an alert canine saved a life - or an entire family.

Lincoln, Neb.: I am 7 years old. I have no problems. Thank you for sticking up for the dog. That man who said he would not bloody up his car taking a dog to the vet made me mad. What if the dog was his? Would he say the same thing?

Toledo: Of course dogs don't belong in the street. Neither do children or old people but sometimes they're in the street anyway. Starting a new lawn this spring?

1. Don't worry about poor soil. You don't need to go to the trouble and expense of bringing in topsoil. Any soil-even subsoil-can give a satisfying lawn with regular feedings of Scotts protein-building TURF BUILDER®.

2. Don't be taken in by seed "bargains." You want a good lawn, not a hayfield. Cheap mixtures contain wild grasses that will plague you for the life of your lawn. Scotts seed is all good grass, perennial and weed-free.

3. Don't plant the wrong kind of lawn. Be realistic. If you need a lawn that stands up to the punishment of children and weather, choose Scotts PLAY seed. If appearance is paramount, Scotts FAMILY® or CLASSIC®.

IL Will Open 78th Season

By The Associated Press The International League, oldest and perhaps hardiest of the minors, opens its 78th season today in a new location and with something of a new look.

The opener takes place in San Juan, Puerto Rico, where organized professional baseball never has been seen before. Enthusiastic fans are expected to jam little Sixto Escobar Stadium to its 9,-400-seat capacity to see the Marlins, transferred from Miami and somewhat improved in the process, play the opener against the champion Toronto Maple Leafs. The other three opening games are scheduled Tuesday.

The International League has a second new member this year-Syracuse, shifted from Montreal; five new managers and one new president

The president is Tommy Richardson, an effusive and experienced baseball veteran who was president of the Eastern League for many years.

Toronto ran away with the pennant by 17 games last year and league attendance dropped nearly 24 percent to 1,369,011. Tommy associates those two facts and predicts a closer race and revived interest.

Two of the new managers are involved in today's opener. They are Johnny Lipon of Toronto and Joe Schultz at San Juan.

Tuesday's schedule is Buffalo at Jersey City, Rochester at Richmond and Syracuse at Columbus. New managers involved in these games are Cal Ermer of Richmond, who formerly piloted Co-lumbus; Gene Verble of Syracuse and Larry Shepard of Columbus.

Vehicle Rolls: During Contest In Columbus

An Irondale motorist escaped injury when his compact station wagon upset and rolled down the highway Saturday night near Wellsville

The mishap was one of two in the area Saturday investigated by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol. Paul A. Tice, 36, of Irondale was uninjured when his 1959 model station wagon upset on a curve and rolled down the highway. He was traveling west. The mishap occurred Saturday at 9:45 p. m. on Route 39, seven miles west of Wellsville. The patrol said Tice failed to negotiate a curve. The vehicle was damaged considerably. Dale A. Bennett, 19, of Salem

R. D. 5 was cited on a charge of reekless operation after he lost control on a curve and his car went off the left side of the highway and rolled over.

Bennett escaped injury in the mishap at 6:15 p. m. Saturday on Route 45, five miles north of Wellsville. The patrol said there was considerable damage to his 1960 model compact.

It takes a GIANT to speed up traffic

It takes a giant highway to speed up automotive traffic and it takes a giant medium to speed up sales traffic. That medium is the daily newspaper, a giant that lives in every town.

Reader traffic through the daily newspaper is greater than ever. According to Sindlinger & Co., national statistical analysts, newspaper reader traffic reached an all-time high of 100,000,000 on an average day in January. More people read newspapers than viewed, listened to or read any other medium.

Reader traffic leads to sales traffic. The greater the traffic the greater the opportunity for retailers, wholesalers, distributors and regional manufacturers to sell more goods to more people. Your daily newspaper gives you that opportunity to knock at practically every door every day throughout the year.

Your newspaper makes it easier and faster for you to reach more prospects in your trading area. Use the direct route to speed up your sales. Use the daily newspaper.

All business is local ... and so are all newspapers.
